a bust of, Richard Cobden was lately presented to the Chamber of Commerce, one of the speakers on the occasion mentioned that Mr. Cobden had been present at his marriage at Berlin, and as an example of the way in which the great statesman always knew how to introduce the subject on which his thoughts were so much employed, related that when dining together after ceremony in the manner customary at such times in that country, and in proposing one of the toast, Mr. Cobden said: "I know no better advantages of free trade than the hospitable and well garnished table, where the bottle and the choicest plates pass from hand to hand, and pleasant words are interchanged with them; whilst protection, on the other hand, is like a table at which each guest sits solitary and exclusive, and one gets all the salt while another gets all the soup.'

HUMOR-SYDNEY SMITH'S WIT AND Wisdom.-Never give way to melancholy; resist it steadily, for the habit will encroach. I once gave a lady twoand-twenty receipts against melancholy; one was a gright fire; another to remember all the pleasant things said to and of her; another to keep a box of sugar-plums on the chimney piece, and a kettle simmering on the hob.

Never teach false morality. How exquisitely absurd to tell girls that beauty is of no volue, dress of no use! Beautv is of value; her whole prospects and happiness in life may often depend on a new gown or a becoming bonnet, and if she has five grains of common sense she will find this out. The great thing is to teach her their just value, and that there mustbe some thing better under the bonnet than a pretty face for real happiness. But never sacrifice truth.

I am convinced digestion is the great secret of life; and that character, talents, virtues, and qualities, are powerfully affected by beef, mutton, pic-crust, and rich soups. I have often thought I could feed or starve men into many virtues and vices and affect them more powerfully with instruments of cookery than Timotheus could do formerly with his lyre.

WOMAN.

TEMALES, OWING TO THE PECULIAR I and important relations which they sustain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to sufferings and ailment peculiar to the sex. Freedom from these con tributes in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. only so, but no one of these various female complaints can jong be suffered to run on without in volving the general health of the individual, and ere long producing permanent sickness and pre-mature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these various delicate affections, and only upon the most argent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands simple specifies which will be found efficacions in relieving and curing almost every one of those troublesome complaints

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF BUCHU Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air and food, pro-fuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent childbirth, it is oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life, health and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, af-fect, more or less directly, the welfare of the entire human family. The mania that exists for precoclous education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half clothed and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, perverting in midnight revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half ac

In consequence of this early strain upon her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day, thus aggavating the evil. When one excitament is over, another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength; the exposure to night air, the sudden change of temperature, the complete prostra-tion produced by excessive dancing must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate one, hitherto so utterly regard-less of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful pieture of the experience of thousands of our young
